are not independent of their womanhood; and the best of them don't want to be. There is no escape from the fact that Nature intended them to be wives and mothers;

and to this end has equipped them with a delicate special organism which is the keystone of their whole physical exist-ence, and which when weak or diseased causes four-fifths of all their sufferings.

Women make a dangerous mistake when they allow these delicate complaints to go on unchecked, wearing down their nerves and sapping their very life away. It may end in complete physical and mental wreck. And there is no

Thousands of women who have never got any help from doctors have been promptly and entirely cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It heals the internal source of these ailments purifies and invigorates the nerve-centres and supplies genuine organic strength and vigor. It is the only medicine preand vigor. It is the only medicine pre-pared for this one purpose by a skilled, experienced physician; it is the only medicine which fulfills that purpose,

HAD HER HEART PIERCED. Countess Mina Von Jeweitska Z-1 dieka died in the Grady Hospital, at Atlanta, Ga., Wednesday night. Ac cording to her dying command her heart was pierced with a steel needle to make sure of her death. In a hearse drawn by six white horses her body was borne out to West View Cemetery at dusk Thursday evening, and there the grave was closed over her.

Twelve years ago there arrived in Atlanta a fragile and remarkable wom an, then sixty eight years old. She had traversed this continent in search of a lost son, who had married beneath his station. At this point her increas-ing years would not permit her to travel tarther, and she settled down, awaiting the end.

The story she told was romantic and he proofs she possessed of its truth Fresh Eggs, 12c per dozen. vere beyond question. Countess Zel-deka was born in St. Petersburg in 1817 of a German ducal family, which had attached itself to the Russian Court. At the age of sixteen she was narried to the Count Zeldieka. Czar Nicholas I, furnished her dowry and gave her husband a place upon the imperial staff. For years fortune smiled upon the couple until the death of the oid Emperor.

Zetdeika offended Czar Alexander,
osing his place at court. For years afterward he consorted with dangerous companions, and in 1865, when Kara-kozov attempted the life of Alexander, it was deemed prudent for Count Zei-dieka to seek safety in flight. Ger many and England refused him refuge. so he journeyed to New York, where, with his wife and younger mem pers of his family, he sought to live without Russian espionage. Drink finally drove him to suicide, and death deprived the countess of all her child ren save one, a bright boy in whom her nopes were centered.

In 1873 he shocked his mother by marrying a dancing girl. -he refused to meet her new daughter-in-law, and bade her son quit her presence forever. The lapse of a few days, however, soft-ened her heart, and she sought her son. To Philadelphia, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis and across to San Francisco and back she traveled, but all in vain It was as if the earth had swallowed him up. The years passed on and all hope seemed gone. Weary, the old woman gave up the search, but always exclaimed : "He will seek me yet."

In Atlanta the countess took rooms n a retired part of the city. She urnished them elaborately, but had no intimates save Attorney Kontz, who looked after her interests and is now in possession of her will, to settle which he will go to St. Petersburg in a few days. The countess prepared a number of written requests and the se she ordered pioned under pictures of the wall. One of them was "When die, have the doctor pierce my heart with a needle that death may be as-ured before my burial."

Another request was that her shroud be of white satin. She wished neither flowers nor a tombstone over her grave, but insisted that the hearse drawing her to her last sleep be drawn by six white horses according to the old German custom. It is understood that in her will she left a large sum of money to the hospital in which she died. She steadily refused religious consolation, though she belonged to the Greek faith.

Stands at the Head.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have 'J. F. Campbell, merchant of Sailord, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds, I cannot say enough for its merits.' Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and to-day stands at the head. It never disappoints.
